

STOP MALE SUICIDE.

Male Suicide Prevention

COMMUNITY FORUM

WHAT PARTICIPANTS LEARN

TOPIC 1: Rethinking Suicide: how and why does male suicide require a different approach?

TOPIC 2: Reforming Services: how to give help in ways that increase the number of men getting help.

TOPIC 3: Really Listening: how to listen and have conversations with men so men will talk.

TOPIC 4: Re-imagining Masculinity: changing the conversation about men and boys in ways that respect difference and celebrate diversity.

TOPIC 5: Rallying for Men and Boys: how can this community work together to stop male suicide in future?

↑ OVERVIEW

Suicide kills six Australian men a day and costs the economy an estimated $13.75B. Men are three times more likely to take their own lives but less likely than women to report feeling suicidal, making it more difficult to identify and help men at risk. Our experience shows that communities often want to take action but don't know how. These forums provide a framework for community workers and others to come together and identify opportunities for action.

↑ AUDIENCE

Community workers and volunteers, health and social care professionals, academics, policy makers, community members, people working with men and boys.

↑ DURATION 8 Hours

↑ STRUCTURE

Presentations, facilitated discussions, Q&A

↑ COST From $3,500 In-House

For more information contact

The Stop Male Suicide Project, PO Box 479, QLD 4677
stop@stopmalesuicide.com 0432 488 943

ABOUT US

Stop Male Suicide is a training and development project that uses a five-step model to help leaders, innovators and changemakers to take action to save men's lives.

We're committed to building Australia's capacity to stop male suicide by providing male suicide prevention training to communities around the country.

In November 2017, we hosted the first National Male Suicide Prevention conference in line with our commitment to promoting best practice approaches to preventing male suicide.

THE TRAINER

Glen Poole has 20 years' experience working with men and boys in the UK and Australia. He is a leading authority on men's issues, founder of the Stop Male Suicide project and author of the book You Can Stop Male Suicide. As well as hosting the first National Male Suicide Prevention Conference in Sydney in November 2017, Glen has delivered presentations on male suicide prevention at various conferences in the UK and Australia. In 2019 he was invited to become a member of the Expert Advisory Group working with the Prime Minister's National Suicide Prevention Advisor.

WHAT PARTICIPANTS GAIN

Attendees consistently report increased awareness of the risk factors for male suicide, greater confidence in their ability to identify and help men at risk of suicide and more knowledge about how, when and where to refer men at risk of suicide.

WHAT PARTICIPANTS SAY...

"It makes you sit back and realise it could be you, it could be a friend, a family member and it IS only one conversation that can change that person's entire outlook. The amazing aura of respect and understanding the facilitator projected flowed on to all people in attendance. It was honestly the most emotive, respectful and powerful seminar I have attended in some time".

Mental Health Worker, Tasmania, March 2017

Terms & Conditions

1. The prices listed in this document are estimates and do not constitute a quote. Additional fees may be charged for travel and overnight accommodation.
2. The estimated prices listed in this document are based on a minimum of 20 participants and a maximum of 100 participants. Groups over 100 people may incur additional costs.
3. For in-house training, the customer is responsible for providing a suitable training venue, relevant equipment to be agreed in advance and catering as required.
4. The Stop Male Suicide project owns all material, documentation and reports and other deliverables produced or delivered to the customer throughout the entire process of delivering training services.
5. Bookings cannot be confirmed until full payment is received in full at least one calendar month before the course date.
6. Courses cancelled more than three calendar months before the course date receive a 100% refund; courses cancelled less than three calendar months before the course date receive a 50% refund; courses cancelled less than one calendar month before the course date are not refunded.
7. In the event of the customer cancelling a course, all travel and accommodation fees incurred by the trainer in relation to the course will also be charged to the client.
8. A course which is cancelled by the customer and can be rescheduled will incur an administrative charge of $100.
9. The Stop Male Suicide project reserves the right to cancel any event up to 14 days prior to the agreed. Where cancellation occurs, the Stop Male Suicide project will provide (where possible) alternative dates or a full refund. The Stop Male Suicide project will not be responsible for consequential costs or any travel related expenditure resulting from cancelled courses.
10. The course is NOT to be used as a substitute for medical advice, counselling, or other health-related services or as a replacement for the services of a trained medical or mental health professional. Nor does the training qualify participants to provide any form of medical or therapeutic service.